Estate of Sedgwick Long In Litigation, Nearing Settlement

After litigation lasting nearly three years creditors of Jacob Sedgwick are about to receive a settlement of their claims at about 50 cents on the dollar. Judge Miller has set Sept. 7 at 10 o'clock as a time for the final accounting and hearing on the settlement of the estate.

Sedgwick who was also known as Sargson, was the proprietor of the Sterling house at Crescent avenue and Sterling street. He died in December, 1913. After his death claims for $4,465.34 were presented against the estate. The inventory showed only $3,249.11. This included $1,100 cash in banks, the liquor license and stock and fixtures in the hotel in Crescent avenue. At the request of a nephew, Thomas Sedgwick, and some of the creditors Attorney George A. Mara was appointed administrator. His appointment was opposed by the widow of Sedgwick, who also petitioned for widow's allowance. It was shown in that she had left her husband without cause several years before his death and thereafter lived apart from him. Her petitions were denied in the probate court. She was represented by Attorney Joseph C. Guilfoile of Waterbury. When it became apparent that if the claims were all allowed the estate would be insolvent, Administrator Mara asked the appointment of commissioner to consider the claims. The late Judge of Probate Edward F. Ballen named Compensation Commissioner E. T. Buckingham, Attorney John H. Casey and Forest W. Montayne, Joseph L. Dublis, now a real estate operator, had presented a claim of $3,215.20. This the commissioners reduced to $1,750. They also reduced the claim of Thomas Sedgwick for services from $275 to $220. Dublis who was represented by Attorney Thomas M. Cullinan appealed to the Superior court. Mrs. Sedgwick also appealed. The papers in her appeal got lost in some manner and did not appear before the trial day in June. After counsel had agreed on a trial, however, Attorney Guilfoile sent notice that his client has gone to parts unknown and he has been unable to communicate with her. Administrator Mara insisted on a trial and after an ex parte hearing before Judge Webb, the latter allowed the Dublis claim. Bills for services rendered Sedgwick and his funeral expenses, which are preferred claims, will be paid in full. The other creditors will receive about 50 per cent. of their claims. Dublis claims that he financed Sedgwick when the latter was in business in Water street and later when Sedgwick took the Sterling house.

The St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad was granted a charter. The capital stock of the company is $450,000,000, of which $300,000,000 is preferred.
